DESCRIPTION

Set of four Golia stools designed by Maurizio Peregalli and produced by Zeus Noto in the early 1990s.

The grey lacquered metal base is built on four tapered legs linked by a circular brace that creates both stability and a clean, airy profile.

The round seat is upholstered in black leather, providing a refined contrast with the metal structure and echoing

Peregalli's industrial yet elegant design language.

Each stool retains the original manufacturer label under the seat.

Zeus Noto, circa 1993.
